Some Good Things We Have Seen

- We were at the Central Valley District meeting recently in Linares. The pastor of the Talca church, Isaias Sanchez, told Barbara that the women in the church had made some dolls for the Girls' Clubs. Turns out that after hearing about the Clubs in January at the convention, the vision touched their hearts and they want to help!
- Two young women in the Curihue church are leading Girls' Clubs in the two rural schools. These are one-room schools where the professor has welcomed the Clubs and their positive influence. The church has gained stature in the community, also.

- Dwight invited Daniel Vivanco, the director of the Rivers District (the southernmost area of the convention, including the Mapuche churches) to teach in the Berea Institute this semester. He is teaching a combined Old Testament and Reading Comprehension class. We have watched Daniel develop into a wise leader and a master teacher over the years. It is so gratifying to see him helping people to overcome the fears and barriers that hold them back from ministry.
- At the Los Rios District meeting in April, missions was the theme. Several months ago they asked us to talk about missions, and we told the story of the modern missions movement. We spoke about the passion for sharing the gospel with neglected peoples, prayer, and innovative giving that started the movement. At the April gathering the churches organized themselves into groups that will dedicate a percentage of their earnings in weavings, beekeeping and other endeavors to the District's church-planting vision. Never think people aren't listening!

Some Prayer Requests

Please pray for all those in our Network who are without jobs or are facing painful changes because of the recession. Two people who helped us mightily, and selflessly, with our annual report are themselves out of work, although highly qualified and talented.

We will be in the U. S. from August through January. Pray for the transitions our boys will face, and for opportunities to share with our Network churches and individuals.

First-time donors: Your tax-deductible gift will be doubled if received before June 30.
